First Class
In Auxiliary
Police Work

An enthusiastic group of 49 men were present last night as the Warren borough auxiliary police school opened in the high school under the supervision of Police Chief George Hahn and Officer Michael Evan, and with James Springer, local teacher and former highway patrolman, as instructor.

Additional enrollments were received last night, increasing the number from 34 to 49.

The class opened with Chief Hahn summarizing and explaining the local civilian defense organization, control center, air raid system, and blackouts.

Instructor Springer then passed out notebooks to each member of the class and outlined the general functioning of the Warren police department, explaining the work in each department.

The next meeting will be held next Tuesday evening in the high school at eight o'clock, and will be the second of ten classes for the group.

Those enrolling last night for the course were: Warren Bauer, Francis B. Cyphert, Sigmund E. Decker, Howard Donaldson, Guy A. Edris, G. E. Fleming, J. W. Guild, J. R. Hedman, Vernard R. Melander, W. T. Mohr, Charles G. Pearson, Albert A. Smecker, C. Willard Smith, W. H. White, Bruce Wood, and Paul Yagge.

NOTES ON THE MOOSE PARADE

The committee in charge has received word that the Many Trails Riding Club, which appeared in the Victory celebration, will have a large delegation of riders in the parade Saturday.

The Templeton funeral home announces that their ambulance will remain at the garage for emergency calls during the parade. It will be recalled that the Gibson ambulance will also be available. The Peterson and Lutz ambulances will be spotted in the parade for use in case of accident.

The suggestion is made that motorists plan to fill up with gas at their favorite stations before the crowd starts to jam the streets at three o'clock instead of waiting until after the parade. The stations will close as usual at seven and will not open Sunday.

Moose officials are doing an excellent job in decorating the town for the parade. The Hickory street bridge has been included in the arrangement and is quite attractive.

The parade committee held a meeting last evening when last-minute details were worked out for the big pageant.

An outstanding band unit from Bradford has been added to the list of out-of-town organizations that will be in town.

Start Plans For Camp Of Local Scouts

Plans for Camp Olmsted, summer camp of the Warren County Boy Scout Council on the Allegheny river near Kinzua, were announced today by W. E. Lutz, acting chairman of the Boy Scout Camping Committee. Four one-week periods will be operated beginning on Wednesday, July 15 and closing Wednesday, August 12.

An entirely new staff will be on hand to greet the campers this year. The new staff will enter camp on July 6 for ten days' intensive work and training in preparation for their summer's responsibilities.

Preparedness for service will permeate all programs held at the camp, and it is expected that special civilian defense training will be offered Scouts who have special civilian defense responsibilities.

For the past several years, the program of Camp Olmsted has been developed so that scouting skills have become intensified and related to emergency serving. This summer's program will see a further intensification of these scouting skills useful in emergencies.

The new organization, composed of young professional and business men of this community, is affiliated with the National Exchange Club, the largest exclusively national service club in existence, and is sponsored by Bradford's Exchange group.

By-laws and other matters, including the election of permanent officers, will be considered at Monday's meeting. The Warren organization is expected to take an active part in some phase of the large national defense program which the National Exchange Club has undertaken in conjunction with Washington officials.

G. Price Jones, recruiting representative of the Erie district of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, will be in Warren tomorrow and will rate the examinations immediately and those who pass will be given appointments at once.

Persons qualifying will report in Washington to start work next week, Mr. Jones said.

It was pointed out that despite some reports, there are plenty of housing facilities available in Washington. Therefore, persons should not hesitate to take the appointments to the positions, it was stated by Mr. Jones.

Health Protection
Provided by Clorox

Greater health protection in every home is today, more than ever, the aim of America's leaders. For healthier families mean higher morale, increased efficiency and a stronger nation.

Since germs which cause most of the common infectious diseases are likely to be found in every home, it is the responsibility of housewives to use even greater precautions in protecting family health. Of all the precautionary measures which they can use, one of the simplest yet one of the most effective is to make household "danger zones" Clorox-clean.

Clorox has won the confidence of millions of housewives who use it regularly in routine kitchen and bathroom cleansing and in laundering as a "first aid" in Home Health Defense.

Clorox is extra-efficient—it is free from caustic, intensified in germicidal action, thus helping to provide maximum home sanitation, improving the health standards of the home and the nation.

After blessing of the first communion and probation classes by Father William J. Moore, members of the graduating class were presented diplomas by the pastor and the American Legion and Auxiliary awards were given to Paul McGarry and Nancy DeStephens. Following the exercises, regular Sunday evening devotions for boys in the service took place and an ice cream social sponsored in the clubrooms by the sodality was enjoyed.

Annual Flag Day Program Here Sunday

Plans are rapidly nearing completion for the annual Flag Day observance of the Warren Lodge of Elks, to be held Sunday afternoon at four o'clock from the front of the Elks Home, Hickory street. It was reported today by members of the committee in charge.

Principal speaker for the occasion will be U. S. Senator James J. Davis, who will be here to attend the Moose convention which opens tomorrow.

The exercises will be in charge of H. D. Baker, exalted ruler, and other officers of the Elk lodge. The history of the flag will be presented by Robert W. Mackay, assisted by members of the local unit of the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps.

A short patriotic parade will precede the exercises. This procession will start to form at three o'clock in Fourth avenue and will move promptly at 3:30, going east in Fourth avenue to Market street, south to Hickory street, and north to the Elks Home, where it will disband.

At least five bands will participate in this parade. These will include the Warren V. F. W., the Struthers-Wells Navy Band, the Warren High School Band, the National Forge Band and the local Salvation Army Band. There will also be several marching delegations in the parade including members of the local veterans' organizations and others.

Floats in this parade will be confined to fraternal organizations and industries which have marching delegations. It was announced.

In case of inclement weather on Sunday, the parade will be omitted but the remainder of the program will be held according to schedule in the State Armory.

C. C. C. COMES TO AN END

"An epic in the history of the Allegheny National Forest passed recently with the abandonment of the last C. C. C. camp on the forest," announces Supervisor R. V. Hemingway, in a statement just released.

For nine years the Civilian Conservation Corps has been the chief source of labor on the Allegheny National Forest. Many permanent improvements, he said, such as roads, buildings, and recreation areas will constantly remind us of its splendid accomplishments now that the Corps has been abolished.

In the spring of 1933 this country was in the midst of a depression and President Roosevelt, feeling that consideration should be given to the young unemployed men, established the C. C. C. The first camp on the forest was established at Duhring in Forest county and incoming camps soon brought the total up to 14. Through the efforts of the C. C. C. many miles of roads were constructed which facilitated control of forest fires, opened up areas of inaccessible timber and made readily available to the public, scenic sections which had heretofore only been seen by a few.

Twin Lakes, and Loleta Recreation Areas and the several picknicking spots are perhaps best known to the public. Many thousands of acres of denuded forest land were planted, thereby hastening the day when timber could be produced once again.

Other projects include Camp Cornplanter for organization groups, Farnsworth trout rearing station and many other worthwhile developments.

As economic conditions improved and opportunities for employment increased in private industry, camps were reduced in number, eliminating those which were working on projects of least importance. With the advent of war and our lease-lend activities, defense industries began booming and many young men who had received valuable training in various skills were able to secure outside employment. As a result, the number of camps decreased and after December 7, 1941, many of the remaining camps were transferred to military areas.

Supervisor Hemingway also states that the war effort required a reduction of expenditure on activities not directly connected with defense, and as the defense demands for young men increased, another reduction was made, the Forest losing its last camp on March 15, which, by the way, was the second one established in the U. S.

OUR TIME WILL COME

From Greece come the latest tales of systematic Nazi inhumanity. It is a shocking story. A year ago it would have been blazoned over the front pages of all newspapers, and the skeptical would have asked whether this was like the World War horror stories which were discredited afterward.

By now, more's the pity, we have learned that no savagery is too great for the Nazis to perpetrate. Atrocity has been heaped upon atrocity until authenticated accounts have ceased to be sensational news. After Poland, nothing seems worth doubting.

Today, because we were unprepared, we can only pity. Tomorrow, all pulling together, we shall be in position to promise to the people of Poland, of Greece, of Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia and France and Scan-

FIFTH "R" DAY

Pennsylvania youths between the ages of 18 and 20 and those who reached 21 on or after last January 1 will sign up in the fifth Selective Service registration June 30th.

Governor James has ordered schools, colleges and universities to close; banned liquor sales during the day and asked employers to give their men time off to register.

The state's 422 local draft boards will handle this registration just as in the four previous enrollments when 3,000,000 were signed up. Registration will be held from seven a. m. to nine p. m.

Have you noticed how attractive the Hickory street bridge appears in its convention dress?

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT WASHINGTON—The capital in wartime:

A young girl burst into the United Service Organizations headquarters the other day and asked to be registered as a dance partner for men in the service.
After taking her name, the USO representative asked her address.
The sweet young thing answered breathlessly: "Oh, I don't have any address yet. I just arrived in town. I came here first."

If any of these athletes think they are doing something hot off the 1942 giddle as athletic instructors for the Army, Navy and Marines, they have another thought coming. Jack O'Leary, who has been around these parts for a good many years, has a letter dated April 14, 1917. In effect, it expresses appreciation for O'Leary's interest in establishing contacts which might lead to setting up an athletic program sponsored by the League for Universal Military Training—in other words, putting athletics into the Army, Navy and Marine Corps.
The letter is signed: "John L. Sullivan."

Incidentally, it was that same 1917-18 athletic program in the World War which brought forward one Gene Tunney, later to become world's heavyweight boxing champion and the much later, Lieut.-Commander Gene Tunney.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It's like this. . .
A woman who will never see 60 again is having dinner with her husband and with some guests in Jack Dempsey's restaurant on Broadway. . . After awhile the Mauler comes in, and the woman leaves her table and goes up to him. . . "Mr. Dempsey," she says, "will you shake hands with me? I once saw you fight, when I was a little kid." Dempsey takes her hand and gallantly says, "Why, Madam, you're still a kid."

THREE sailors pause in front of a studio in 6th avenue, and gaze at the photographs that crowd the windows. . . They are joined after awhile by a couple of soldiers, and presently they represent the snake's head of a long line of gobs and soldiers, waiting to have their pictures taken, at 10 cents a throw. . .
These pictures are for their girls back home, and for their families.
The windows in front of the studio are all crowded now, with photographs of guys in uniform.
You see wide, honest wheatfield grins. . . You see guys with high, thin eastern noses. . . You see curly hair, and Irish eyes, and frank, open countenances with Texas bluebonnets in their eyes. . . They must have reasoned, when they had those 2½ x 2½ prints taken, "Well, I better do it now. . . I'll have it taken now, and send it to Mom. . . I mightn't have another chance, not for awhile, anyway."

IN Tools Shore's 51st street restaurant, a familiar figure shows up. His name is George Raft. . .
A shade taller, perhaps, than you expected. . . Eyes that can drill right through you, hard eyes, in a way, but interested. . . He's in town only for a week. . . There's a luncheon for him, and among those on hand are Bill Stern, the sports announcer, and Jimmy Walker, the ex-mayor of N.Y. and Jimmy Johnston, boxing manager. But Raft is an actor, and these are all sports figures. . .
What has George Raft to do with sports? . . . "You may not know it," Bill Stern reminds, "but George is a graduate of the big league. It's a fact. . . He used to be bat boy for the NY Yankees." No, I didn't know that. . . But he was A.M.'s true. . .
When I come upon Bill Stern, I'm always a little startled to remember that Bill has only one leg. . . The other was lost in a motor accident. . . You don't think of those things when you hear him on the air, when he is broadcasting a football game. . .

ALL the old Army & Navy stores have come into their own, now that there's a war. . .
They're an education in themselves, in a way. . . If you stand there a few minutes, you can memorize all the insignia, and how much they cost. . . And what they mean. . . Their windows are filled with them. . . Two snakes twined around a staff (the Medical Corps). . . Propeller blades growing out of a pair of wings.
You won't have to guess what that one is. . . A pair of crossed sabers (the Cavalry). . . A pair of crossed cannons (the Artillery).
A pair of crossed rifles (the Infantry). . . That's the way
